Shenandoah County. The grain crop promises to be a full average one throughout the State. This is cheering news, and if realised, will relieve the embarrassment of our people to an almost incalculable extent. This region was visited by a thunder storm accompanied with bail, on Tuesday morning. between four and five o'clock. No serious damage, however, so far as we can learn bas resulted from it. We are happy to state that, so far as our observation has extended, the wheat crops are not likely to be injured to any considerable extent by the krout weed, in this county, owing to the rapid growth of the grain .-Tenth Legion.

The Army Hat.

We have been shown a sample of the new army hat, got up by Warnock & Co., in Broadway. The officers' is of fine felt, stouter than ordinary, to avoid the necessity for stiffening; is slightly conical, with the arms of the United States beautifully embroidered in gold at the side, (which is turned up,) on aground of black velvet; a black feather on the opposite side, and the insignia of the corps or regiment fixed in front. When the hat is required for active service, it can be quickly dismantled of the decorations. The hat partakes somewhat of the brigand look, but must be comfortable, durable, and is said to give universal satisfaction. For privates, metal mmmings are used, instead of embroidered. -N. Y. Mr. WIERMAN by the spirit, had a rare faculty of making himself be loved by every one who knew him. "We begin to suspect that it was an unwise act on the part of Virginia, in allowing Alexandria to come back to her. We fear she will prove like the Indian's gun: "Cust more than she will come to." The people of Virginia, it is plain, are to be taxed dearly in an effort to make her a second Baltimore.

As this is said in wrath, we are sure that our friend, the Virginian, will, in cooler moments, reconsider and retract. It was but the other day we saw quoted the opinion of a distinguished citizen of the State, that the fifty years. If the Legislature of Virginia could make Alexandria a second Baltimore. The jury rendered a verdict that the deceased | we should soon see what would be the difference between the cost and the "come to!" There would be no dispute, then. As it is, Alexandria is worth to the State, in every point of view, more than she ever has or will expend in its behalf. Let it be remembered, however, that the "taxing," of which Alexandria pays her full proportion, is for the benefit of the country as well as the town-and that the section of the State interested in the railroads leading to Alexandria, is quite as much benefitted as the city itself.
